SCAR REVISION

What is SCAR REVISION ?

Every wound heals with a scar.

As the name suggests it is a cosmetic surgery performed to hide or minimize scars. Scars are a result or a mark that has remained even after a wound has completely healed. Scars are the unavoidable and also unacceptable results of injury or surgery, which need to be covered or hidden.

The reason for prominent persistence of scars can be poor healing which eventually leads to scars that are obvious, unsightly or disfiguring. Scars are mostly evident due to their size, shape or location; and their persistence can lead to depression in few individuals. Scar revision surgery will try to reduce or lighten appearance of the scar in a natural way so as it blends in with the surrounding skin tone and texture and looks very natural.

Scars can be Atrophic
Hypertrophic
keloids
Contracture scars

Scars can be due to injury, infection, burns or inflammation.
